

Flight height regulations for helicopters in Hawai'i are too low as is. It's unfair to hikers and others enjoying natural beauty to be buzzed by helicopters, and it's unsafe. Helicopters often fly under 500 feet as it is - we live on the 10th floor of an oceanfront building and have seen them go by not far above us. If the limits are lowered, they'll be coming in even lower, and that's just obnoxious. At some point, please consider the sensibilities of people other than customers of these businesses.
